Data Abuse Bounty Program

Data Abuse Bounty Program

This program exists to help us protect people's data on Facebook.

This is done by incentivizing anyone to report apps collecting user data and passing it off to malicious parties to be exploited.

If we find cases of this we will take action, including but not limited to:

- Termination of the application from our Platform
- Initiation of a forensic audit of related systems
- Legal action against the company and any relevant parties

Please be sure to read the terms and FAQ of this program before submitting.

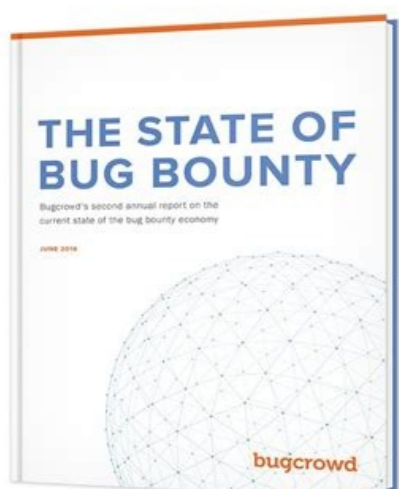

To report security flaws see our Whitehat program.

Therefore, employees cannot view a submission project. For detailed instructions on loading videos or images with your requests, see the improvements to file attachments. To view the presentation, a collaborator must accept an invitation. Generally, you have to explain where the bug was found, hitting, how to reproduce it, the parameters that affect and provide support information for the concept concept. Therefore, provide clear, concise and descriptive information when writing the relationship. This is optional. This not only helps to quickly reproduce the problem, but move your presentation through the fastest audit process, without delays due to missing information. This elevator displays VRT-based options (vulnerability assessment taxonomy). At the annexes, it is strongly recommended to load illustrative proofs that show the test of the vulnerability, preferably in the form of a POC video that shows the vulnerability in the system or screenshots of the program owner. You can type to filter the correspondence list. - Description: Provide detailed information on the vulnerability. Each file size must be less than 400 MB. Spiders, hitnesses and the millepids are not insects. This is particularly useful when you need to save some information about a presentation and you don't have any information to complete a presentation yet. Buy an online bug identification guide in places like all posters to provide an easy source for bug information. Use local parasitic control websites to control a bug you find at home or in Yard. Join The Amateur Entomologists, Å »Actomologists' Society of AmateurÅ » Amateur Company offers tons of options when it comes to Bugs for beginners. If you open the same cards within the same browser, the most recent modified submission is considered the latter and other open cards will display a warning message that is a latest version elsewhere. Indicates the number of characters you can continue to type. In collaboration, add researchers who have collaborated on this submission. Test repeatedly outside the approved scope will lead to loss access to the program or platform privileges. Report saving as the presentation project is automatically saved as a draft every 30 seconds, ensuring that it is not lost in case of connection, browser problems or computer failure. The maximum limit is 25,000 characters. Sending compared to a target listed as per scope translates into a point -1 setting.
